BRIDGETTE MAYER GALLERY

World-renowned artist Ryan McGinness' monumental mural at the University City Science Center features layers of "event horizons," creating a feeling of portals into an infinite inner space, and a strong gravitational pull on the senses. McGinness' "Black Holes" series is an exploration of how ideas of outer space and mind space can intertwine. This mural is organized by the City of Philadelphia Mural Arts Program and sponsored by the University City Science Center, Bridgette Mayer Gallery, the City of Philadelphia Mural Arts Program, and Wexford Science & Technology: A BioMed Realty Company.
